Free Response: Section II, Part A

A graphing calculator is required for problems on this part of the exam.

1. Let r be the function given by $r(\theta) = 3\theta \sin \theta$ for $0 \leq \theta \leq 2\pi$. The graph of r in polar coordinates consists of two loops, as shown in the figure above. Point P is on the graph of r and the y -axis.
- (A) Find the rate of change of the x -coordinate with respect to θ at the point P .
- (B) Find the area of the region between the inner and outer loops of the graph.
- (C) The function r satisfies $\frac{dr}{d\theta} = 3\sin \theta + 3\theta \cos \theta$. For $0 \leq \theta \leq 2\pi$, find the value of θ that gives the point on the graph that is farthest from the origin. Justify your answer.
