Formerly known as Phonebloks, the developer of the phone is now publicly announcing plans to launch an Indiegogo campaign for a concept phone called the M9. No, they're not releasing the handset themselves, but it's not uncommon for indiegogo campaigns to have the support of the manufacturer that released the device. It's also not uncommon for these deals to be announced prior to indiegogo campaigns, so I'd wait to see if the concept will see the light of day or not.
