KEYMACRO allows you to store keyboard macros in a simple and intuitive interface that allows you to record and execute them at the click of a mouse. The utility can be run in two different modes. The first, the "standard" one, is in fact a standard Windows application. The second is a WDDM ("Windows Driver Development Kit") which is an external application that enables the program to communicate with the kernel. It is used by various software development tools to allow the user to access the keyboard directly from the application. Simply press the "Insert" key to use your standard keyboard shortcuts. Then, you can enter the key you want to use and, after you press the "Record" button, it will be stored and the macro created. NOTE: When using the Record button, it will record every time you press a key, even if there are no macro commands. To record only when the macro is to be executed, use the button "Execute". In order to execute the macro, just select the action you want from the list and press the button "Run". NOTE: Macro actions include: - Alt+F1 - Alt+F2 - Alt+F3 - Alt+F4 - Alt+F5 - Alt+F6 - Alt+F7 - Alt+F8 - Alt+F9 - Alt+F10 - Alt+F11 - Alt+F12 - Alt+Tab - Alt+D - Alt+E - Alt+Z - Alt+X - Alt+C - Alt+V - Alt+A - Alt+W - Alt+S - Alt+Enter - Alt+P - Alt+N - Alt+M - Alt+Insert - Alt+Delete - Alt+Left - Alt+Up - Alt+Right - Alt+Down - Alt+Home - Alt+End - Alt+PageUp - Alt+PageDown - Alt+F3 - Alt+F4 - Alt+F5 - Alt+F6 - Alt+F7 - Alt+F8 - Alt+F9 - Alt+F10 - Alt+F11 - Alt+F12 - Ctrl+Alt+Esc - Windows+R - Windows+I - Windows+A - Windows+S 70238732e0
