The new KEYMACRO feature makes it easy to assign hot keys to macro entries. Using the keyboard you can easily create convenient, repeatable keyboard commands. Each macro entry can have any name. Each name is created using a simple set of hot keys - just assign the macro you want to create using the hotkeys you want. And if you have a large set of hotkeys, you can still quickly create the macro you need. Main Features: * The tape contains up to 64 entries. Each entry can contain a fixed number of characters or a sequence of hotkeys. * The tape can be read, copied to the clipboard and printed. * Many of the basic features of the standard calculator. * Includes a built in function library for all your math needs. * 12 built in hotkeys for creating and executing macros. * Supports hotkey shortcut keys on IBM/MS Windows PCs and Macintoshes. * Allows the use of your keyboard's numeric keypad for easy calculation of large numbers. * Allows you to use custom fonts. * Allows you to change the size of the font and graphic used on the tape. * Allows you to select any of the built in fonts. * Supports Unicode characters. * Includes a help file with detailed documentation for getting started and using the program. * Also includes a built in help file with detailed documentation for using KEYMACRO. * Supports Win95, Win98, WinME, WinNT4, WinNT2000, WinNT4.1, WinXP. * Supports Win3.1, Win3.11, Win95, Win98, WinME, WinNT4, WinNT4.1, WinNT4.2, WinNT4.3, WinNT4.51, WinNT5.1, WinXP, Win2K, WinME, Win2K3. * Works with all Unicode and character encodings including Windows ANSI, UTF-16, UTF-32, Windows-1252, MacRoman and ISO-8859-1. Using KEYMACRO, or keymacs.exe, you can execute any command on the tape of keys you create. KEYMACRO creates a blank tape when first launched, and then it reads the first keystroke from the command line. The use of the tape is very easy: * Click once on the screen to bring up the tape. * Type the command to be executed
