A: You can use the count method. with open("test.txt", "r") as f: lines = f.readlines() print len(lines) Or you can use the count method directly. print(f.count(' ')) Indian women and domestic workers in Singapore, Malaysia and the Philippines have endured similar travails: they are often subjected to poor working conditions, verbal and physical abuse and sexual harassment. Yet most of them are employed by the same company – about 5,000 Indian maids work for about 700 households in Singapore. The practice of keeping domestic workers in their place is not unique to Singapore, where many maids have been kept locked up in their employers' homes for months at a time. But the maids in Singapore are among the highest paid, earning an average of $3,000 a month. They are the only domestic workers in the city-state who are not covered by labour laws, and are not entitled to leave, except in emergencies. There are about 100,000 maids working in Singapore, according to the Ministry of Manpower. At the end of last year, they were making an average of $4,050 a month, or about $400 more than the average Singaporean salary. In Malaysia, there are about 1.5 million domestic workers, according to the Ministry of Domestic Affairs. They are among the lowest paid workers in the country, earning about $1,000 a month, or about 20 per cent less than the average Malaysian
